

NEW WEBINAR

Tuesday-10/18/16

10:00 AM - 11:00 AM

The Association for Healthcare Risk Management of New York, Inc. presents a new webinar entitled:

Reptile Theory

FROM A RISK MANAGEMENT PERSPECTIVE

Presented by Dylan C. Braverman

Dylan Braverman is senior counsel at Lewis Johs Avallone Aviles and has dedicated his career to complex litigation in Federal courts throughout the nation, and in the Supreme Courts and Appellate Divisions of the State of New York. In that capacity, he represents international insurers against first party claims, and defends a wide array of physicians, hospitals, medical groups, long term care/ nursing home facilities, urgent care clinics and other medical professionals against claims of medical malpractice, fraud and negligence. Added to the medical malpractice specialty, Mr. Braverman defends clients against products liability claims.

Outside of the healthcare world, Mr. Braverman regularly defends other professionals, such as attorneys, engineers, executives, directors, officers and educators against professional malpractice claims. He also defends labor law claims brought against general contractors, multi-national engineering firms and construction trades.

Mr. Braverman sits on the Board of Directors of the Association for Healthcare Risk Management of New York, and is a member of the Editorial Committee for the Risk Management Quarterly.

Mr. Braverman is a 1999 graduate of Cardozo School of Law at Yeshiva University and resides in Manhattan. He is an experienced traveler, nature enthusiast and involved in several not-for-profit organizations.

About this webinar....

The objectives of the webinar will be to initially introduce the plaintiff's "Reptile Theory" litigation strategy, which permeates plaintiff's discovery, jury selection and trial conduct, to analyze the so-called psychological response plaintiffs hope to induce from the jury, to summarize methods that defense counsel can combat and even exploit the Reptile Theory and to suggest methods of Risk Management to safeguard against the litigation strategy.

The cost to attend webinar is $25.00 for non-member attendees and free for AHRMNY, SHCRM-NJ and CSHRM members.

Risk management professionals, patient safety officers, physicians, nurses, attorneys, compliance officers and Insurance professionals should plan to attend.

Continuing Education Credits for Risk Management Designations (CPHRM, FASHRM and DFASHRM) will be provided through the American Society for Healthcare Risk Management (ASHRM).

CLE credits can be obtained through the New York State Continuing Legal Education Board. AHRMNY will provide the required documents for submission.
