About this webinar.....

This presentation will describe the pathogens of primary concern in cases of drug diversion and substitution. Several diversion/substitution epidemiologic investigation case studies will highlight the real-life impact of this problem. The audience will be provided resources and references for additional information and participants will learn the patient safety risks to patients from healthcare provider drug diversion and substitution.

In part two of the presentation, the legal and liability risks of healthcare provider drug diversion and substitution will be discussed. Participants will learn the consequences of controlled substance diversion and how to spot signs and symptoms of potential chemical dependency in healthcare provider.
