

Chris Stern Hyman is a health care lawyer and a mediator. In 1998 she formed Medical Mediation Group LLC, which provides mediation services to resolve disputes in health care, and she is a mediation trainer. She is a member of the American Arbitration Association's Panel of Mediators and a Special Master mediating appeals pending before the NY Supreme Court Appellate Division, First Department. Chris is a researcher and writes on mediation and health care. Her recent article is C.S. Hyman, "Mediation and Medical Malpractice: Why Plaintiffs, Hospitals and Physicians Should be at the Table," Dispute Resolution Journal 66, no. 3 (August-October 2011): 32-37. Chris was Principal Investigator for the New York City Health and Hospitals Corporation Pilot Project for Mediation of Medical Malpractice Lawsuits (NYCHHC) study and Principal Investigator for the MeSH Study, which mediated medical malpractice lawsuits filed against hospitals in New York City. Chris's website is www.cshmediation.com.

Carol B. Liebman is a Clinical Professor at Columbia Law School where she founded Mediation Clinic and directs the Negotiation Workshop. She has mediated cases involving medical malpractice, discrimination, family issues, public agencies, community disputes, business conflicts and educational institutions and is a nationally recognized speaker and trainer in conflict resolution. She has designed and presented mediation training for a variety of groups including the Certificate Program in Bioethics at Montefiore Medical Center, Albert Einstein College of Medicine; New York's First Department, Appellate Division, Attorney Disciplinary Committee; the Association of the Bar of the City of New York; and high school students, parents and teachers and taught about negotiation and mediation in Vietnam, Israel, Brazil and China. In 2012 she received the Columbia University Presidential Award for Excellence in Teaching.

Liebman is a former member of the New York City's Civilian Complaint Review Board and of the Executive Committee of the Association of the Bar of the City of New York. She was co-principal investigator of the Mediating Suits against Hospitals (MeSH) project, and of the Demonstration Mediation and ADR Project, a part of the Project on Medical Liability in Pennsylvania, funded by the Pew Charitable Trusts. She is co-author of Mediating Bioethics Disputes: A Guide to Shaping Shared Solutions, Revised and Expanded Edition, 2011. She can be reached at cliebman@law.columbia.edu.