About this Webinar:

CMS is taking additional action to combat preventable patient harm by publishing its vision of excellence in patient safety. This vision outlines 25 "measures" (standards) across five domains, accompanied by a scoring system that healthcare systems will use to self-assess their achievement of these standards. The first assessment for the end of 2025 is due in March 2026, with results to be published in October 2026.

This August 1, 2024 rule is particularly compelling for healthcare systems aiming for high public scores. Many healthcare systems may initially find themselves scoring zero on a five-point scale unless they take action to align with CMS's vision as the scoring system offers no partial credit for missed or incomplete measures in any of the five domains.

This informative presentation is primarily designed for healthcare risk managers, but it will also be valuable to leaders in patient safety and clinical quality.

Over the past two years, AHRMNY has actively attracted members from the patient safety sector. Consider attending with your patient safety leader and their teams as an introduction to AHRMNY and an opportunity to expand our membership.
